First Aid Guide

The guide clearly explains medical situations, how to deal with these and which First Aid Items to use to treat the casualty. - Fully coloured illustrations and clear, easy to follow text
- Clear step by step instructions
- Compiled by qualified health and safety practitioners
- Encapsulated finish for superior durability
- Fully updated with the latest guidance

Where to Keep First Aid Kits

Make sure you know how to properly use all of the items in your kit, especially the medications. Train others in your family to use the kit. You may be the one who needs first aid! Pack and use barrier items such as latex gloves to protect you from bodily fluids of others. Check the kit twice a year and replace expired medications.

- The best place to keep your first aid kit is in the kitchen. Most family activities take place here. The bathroom has too much humidity, which shortens the shelf life of items.
- The travel kit is for true trips away from home. Keep it in a suitcase or backpack or drybag (for example, a zip lock plastic bag), depending on the activity.
- A first aid kit for everyday use in the car should be just like the home first aid kit. For that matter, you could keep similar kits in your boat (inside a waterproof bag), travel trailer, mobile home, camper, cabin, vacation home, and wherever you spend time.
